

System Quality

Before we begin evaluating your products from high-quality production demand technology manufacturing steps.

System Design & Engineering

Jeff and Patrick—our systems engineers for audiovisual and security—not only have decades of experience in their respective fields, but are constantly seeking out and learning the capabilities of the latest technologies. We put this knowledge to work for you, to bring you the system that best fits your needs.

your project, Shanix uses only the highest-quality providers. Our established relationships with manufacturers puts you at an advantage from the first

